Be a friend to the Paly Library. The 2021/22 school year saw the Paly Library bounce back better than before. Our return to campus and to a library full of students reminded us why we love our jobs so very much. Along with our subscriptions to the New York Times and the Wall Street Journal available to staff and students, we returned to the collection of print books to support our students, many of whom were tired of looking at screens. Our digital collections continue to include a wide range of ebooks, newspapers, magazines, databases, and audiobooks that are perfect for high school reading and research. Thanks (for once) to social media influence, reading has gained a new popularity and we have enjoyed collecting new titles that students learn about from each other and online! For more information about our library services and resource collections please contact Teacher Librarian Sima Thomas and check out the library home page.
